

Atlas Errata
v1.0
9 Feb 2009

There are no known Atlas errata at this time. There are two items of importance to note before building your kit.

Atlas Assembly Notes

Note #1:

There are several different LED part numbers that may be supplied. Some of these diodes have the cathode marked and some of them have the anodes marked. The anode side of each LED is marked on the PCB. Please check the polarity of your diodes before you install them!

Note #2:

The 96-pin DIN connectors J1 – J6 are not physically keyed to the PCB and can be installed backwards. If you do this it is nearly impossible to remove them. Check the orientation twice, solder once!
